Igor Kovalchuk, dba www.DrTuber.com)	DISMISS and www.drtuber.com and John Does 1 – 100) and John Doe Companies 1-100)

COMES NOW Plaintiffs Fraserside IP LLC, by and through its counsel, Chad Belville, Pursuant to Local Rule 7(h), and Moves the Court for Leave to file a brief in excess of the twenty (20) page limit imposed by LR 7(h) in support of its Resistance to Motion to Dismiss.

Many arguments here are nearly identical to arguments in 3:11-cv-03005 MWB, 11-cv-03025 MWB, and 11-cv-03043 MWB involving different Defendants but the same legal counsel. Plaintiffs Fraserside IP LLC brought this suit alleging that Defendants have engaged in illegal and tortious infringement of Plaintiffs' United States intellectual property rights. Defendants, in lieu of filing an Answer to the Complaint, have filed a Motion to Dismiss. In its motion, Defendant raises four primary arguments, each of which must be addressed by Plaintiff in its response.

Defendants are an alien entity, claiming that this Court does not have jurisdiction over them. Plaintiffs' brief addresses the issues brought forth by Defendant as well as sub-issues not raised by Defendant but related to its alien status. These sub-issues require additional arguments and additional pages to complete the brief. Defendants raise issues that are not relevant to the case at hand or that Defendants have no standing to bring. Plaintiff must address each issue.

Plaintiff's brief reproduces paragraphs from the Complaint and other documents filed in this case; sections of law; and certain excerpts from cited cases. Plaintiff's brief could be shortened by integrating these by reference, but including them in the brief itself rather than requiring the Court to refer to a separate document is intended for efficiency.

Plaintiff's brief is 33 pages long. Excluding the Caption page, Table of Contents and Table of Authorities, and Signature Pages it is 26 pages long. Due to the nature of the several arguments raised in Defendant's Motion, this Brief appears to efficiently address the issues presented without delving into unnecessary areas.

Plaintiff asserts the over length brief is as concise as the issues briefed reasonably permit, and addresses only the particular facts and legal issues under consideration.

In light of these assertions, Plaintiffs respectfully request the Court's Leave to File a Brief in Support of Resistance to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss with thirteen (13) extra pages, inclusive of Caption, Table of Contents, and signature pages, for a total of thirty-three (33) pages.

Date: November 23, 2011
